

A stitch in time from one of the people who makes your world shine:

Denovia Anderson loves to sew. "I always wanted the opportunity to work where I could do this," says Denovia, who works as a seamstress at New York City Industries for the Blind in Brooklyn, New York. Sewing hospital sheets as well as stitching SKILCRAFT Microfiber scrubber sets, Denovia says she feels honored to have a chance to help serve our military families through the products she makes. At home, this legally blind "go getter" loves to cook and sew for her four children and eight grandchildren. Outgoing, upbeat. That's Denovia Anderson, just one of the many people who bring you SKILCRAFT and other products produced through the AbilityOne Program.
